

---

Leagues reply about the refs

Posted by ishma - 2008/09/17 16:18

---

I have been talking to Ricky, about the Refs last nite, I know we beat ourselves last nite, the 2 goals in 5mins was a disaster, we should have came away with 1 point at the least.

I explain everything that has been happening to Ricky, He said he is looking into the matter.

Sam has been telling me that I and the team will be considered whiners and so on....

but i feel the obligation to the team to fight for what is fair and right.
We pay the league its fees, and we deserve a fair match.

So should we just eat it and say nothing or what.

Tell me your thoughts

=====

Re:Leagues reply about the refs

Posted by kabra - 2008/09/17 21:00

---

after reading the email .. like you said we are only trying to get a fair game by telling them what we didnt appreciate about the game, but then again not even in the pros is it always fair. So hmm i guess we should try to get what we can from this match request to fairness and just work with what we have for the coming games, unless it something totally insane and irrelevant. i dont know, i love u guys jaja " we got this"

=====

Re:Leagues reply about the refs

Posted by joselara - 2008/09/18 17:21

---

I don't think its to much to ask for a fair game to be called. and that penalty called against us was ridiculous, along with several fouls that have not been called in our favor, along with the refs being extra soft on calls against our opponents (giving yellow cards instead of red cards for blatant fouls or hand balls.) I think if we don't try to get a fair game called this will continue or get worse. we've done well so far and now we know what we have against us.

=====